charge of your future.

Do you know someone who is off track and out of school whose future looks bleak? A GED is a way to get back on the right path. Forge ahead and brighten someone's future.

The Governor's Workforce Investment Board has partnered with multiple agencies to reach out-of-school youth with an important message. Convinced that the percentage of adults who do not have their high school diploma represents a serious economic problem in our state, we want to show high school dropouts that they can take the first step toward obtaining their GED; they can forge ahead to better lives for themselves and the state.
